Glendale Police Sex Crimes Detectives Arrest Suspect Who Meets Women on Social Media Sites

Glendale, Ariz. – Glendale Police Detectives recently arrested David Wright, a 49 yr old B/M, related to the July 26, 2012 sexual assault of a Glendale woman. The victim, an adult female, met Wright on a social media website. They had one previous date, during which he took her for a ride on his motorcycle. When he arrived for the second date, she allowed him into her home for a glass of water, at which time the assault occurred. The victim immediately reported the attack to police and Glendale Detectives were able to identify that Wright was the suspect in a very short period of time. Investigators also found that he was previously convicted of sexual assault involving a serious sexually transmitted disease related to an attack in Florida over 20 years ago.

Phoenix Police Detectives are working on other cases that may be related to Wright. The Glendale and Phoenix Police Departments encourage anyone that might have information on unreported crimes involving David Wright to contact law enforcement. Persons with information can call the Glendale Police Department at 623 930-3000 or the Phoenix Police Department at 602 262-6141.
