GLENDALE COUNCILMEMBER LAUREN TOLMACHOFF TAKES “BEHIND THE SCENES” LOOK AT CITY WATER SERVICES

Glendale Today TV Show Begins Airing Tomorrow!

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Cholla District councilmember Lauren Tolmachoff highlights the fascinating process of how Glendale’s Water Services Department works to safeguard the health and vitality of our community by providing safe, reliable, high-quality services on the latest edition of “Glendale Today”.

During the half-hour TV tour, Water Services Director Craig Johnson and his award-winning team navigate Councilmember Tolmachoff and Glendale 11 viewers through the daily journey the 10-million gallons of water the city provides to residents and businesses from the watershed to the showerhead.

Viewers will get behind-the-scenes-access into this city department which prides itself in providing water which is treated, tested and exceeds quality standards, monitors and maintains its infrastructure, and also provides water conservation programs offered by the city that help conserve our desert’s most valuable resource. The department’s mascot “Wayne Drop” also makes a special appearance.

The show begins airing Friday, Jan. 20, at 8 p.m. on Glendale 11.

“Glendale Today” is a production of city-owned Glendale 11 TV station and airs daily on Glendale 11. The show is also available through the city’s online video library at www.glendaleaz.com/video. Exclusive segments can be found on the city’s YouTube channel at www.youtube.com/MyGlendale11. For more information about the new “Glendale Today” TV show, visit www.glendaleaz.com/glendale11.
