GLENDALE MAYOR JERRY P. WEIERS FOCUSES ON LOCAL VETERAN SERVICES ON “GLENDALE TODAY”

Glendale, Ariz. In the latest edition of “Glendale Today” that is currently airing on Glendale 11, Mayor Jerry P. Weiers focuses on various veteran services in Glendale.

Mayor Weiers interviews Scott Fincher with Arizona Department of Veterans' Services, who highlights the new veteran satellite office located in the Community Assistance Program (CAP) Office in Glendale City Hall twice per month.

In addition, Mayor Weiers speaks with Glendale Community College Interim President Dr. Teresa Leyba Ruiz and Veterans Services Advocate Chris Spicer, about the newly remodeled Veterans Service Center slated to open March 24.

The program provides veterans with a wide array of resources to utilize, including basic needs assistance, health and wellness, collegiate programs and an opportunity for camaraderie with fellow veterans.

Ed Hill, service officer from the American Legion Earl E. Mitchell Post #29 and Gerry Schaller, a member of the Marine Corps League Old Breed Detachment #767, visit with Mayor Weiers on the show about how their organizations are helping improve the lives of veterans each day.

Mayor Weiers also acknowledges the work of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce Military & Veterans Affairs Committee which connects veteran agencies and has grown to 30 members.
