CURRENT GLENDALE PARK RENOVATIONS HAVE LONG TERM BENEFITS

GLENDALE, Ariz. – The city of Glendale is making improvements to several of its popular parks and trails including Sahuaro Ranch Regional Park, Thunderbird Conservation Park and the Marshall Ranch Trail. These renovations will add to Glendale’s growing list of amenities, focusing on lasting improvements for residents.

The Sahuaro Ranch Regional Park renovation involves improvements to the hub of the popular park, the athletic complex. Residents will soon enjoy two full size multi-use fields for soccer, football and/or lacrosse, adjacent to the ballfields. There will also be new shade structures added for spectators in the complex, improved ADA accessibility, new fencing and ‘green’ lighting installation.

In addition, the Thunderbird Conservation Park will now have paved parking lots, located at 55th Avenue and Pinnacle Peak Road, and 67th Avenue and Patrick Lane, greatly enhancing accessibility for park users. The parking lot will improve dust control and be made of an environmentally-friendly surface.

A third park improvement involves the Marshall Ranch Trail, creating a consistent trail surface for pedestrians and bicycle users, which connects the Thunderbird Paseo Linear Park to the historic Sun Circle Trail.
