GLENDALE MAYOR JERRY WEIERS HIGHLIGHTS MAYOR’S YOUTH ADVISORY COMMISSION ON “GLENDALE TODAY”

Glendale, Ariz. — Glendale Mayor Jerry Weiers highlights the Mayor’s Youth Advisory Commission (MYAC), inspiring youths by encouraging them to take an active role in local government, on his new edition of the TV show “Glendale Today.” The show profiles a dynamic group of past and present students with the goal of improving their community.

Mayor Weiers talks about the benefits and experiences in MYAC with the current president of the organization, Taylor Field, a senior at Mountain Ridge High School, and two former MYAC students who have gone on to successful careers, Maria Hechanova and Paul Senseman. The group is comprised of students who live or go to school in Glendale, and volunteer for community service, raise funds for projects and provide the Mayor with perspective on issues facing teens.

To find out more about joining MYAC go online at www.glendaleaz.com/mayor or call the Mayor’s office at 623-930-2260.

The show begins airing October 24 at 8 p.m. “Glendale Today” is produced by staff from the city-owned TV station Glendale 11. The show will air daily on Glendale 11 and can be viewed online via the city’s video library at www.glendaleaz.com/video. Exclusive segments can be found on the city’s YouTube channel at www.youtube.com/MyGlendale11. For more information about the new TV show, visit www.glendaleaz.com/glendale11.
