April Marks Water Awareness Month in Glendale

A flood of information is available on water services through the month

GLENDALE, Ariz. –Water is vital to our community. In Glendale, water is worthy of having an entire month dedicated to raising awareness of this precious resource. The city of Glendale Water Services Department is celebrating Water Awareness Month (WAM) this April and information is free-flowing to help residents learn ways to actively protect and conserve water.

Glendale, in partnership with the Arizona Department of Water Resources, encourages residents to visit the interactive WAM website at www.waterawarenessmonth.com – a portal for water-related information, resources, and classes in April and throughout the year.

For those that want to be more active, Glendale is seeking volunteers to help spread the word about the “Not in My Drain” campaign to keep fats, oils, and grease out of our sewer system. Volunteers will be distributing door hangers in neighborhoods near the Glendale Main Library, 5959 W. Brown St., on Saturday, April 25, at 8 a.m. To volunteer, contact Lee Robinson by calling (623) 930-4779 or emailing lrobinson@glendaleaz.com.

Residents can get a free copy of the Smart Home Water Guide, available in English and Spanish, by calling 623-930-3535. The guide is also available online at www.smarthomewaterguide.org. This resource will help you find leaks that are draining your budget and provide tips on how to improve your home’s water efficiency.
